home in July, the June meeting being omitted on account of the L. T. L. Convention at Wilkes-Barre.

The literary program was as follows: A piano solo by Mrs. Curtis Peters, a reading, "Cigarette Smoking," by Raymond Michener, duet, Charles and Harry Wolfe, entitled "A Gay Cavalier." The program closed with a musical pantomime, "Villikins and His Dinah."

The social hour was devoted to a comic luncheon in which the menu card was marked with ten numbers, each number standing for a different article of food, each person was allowed to order three numbers not knowing what they stood for. Some of the combinations were very funny and unsatisfactory, for instance a glass of water, pickle and a toothpick.

This was followed by a "Musical Guessing Match" in which a medley of ten bars of music was played, each bar from a different well-known air.

One feature of the evening was a sale of refreshments and fancy articles for the benefit of the alumnae which was very successful, thanks to those present.

High School Commencement.

The Senior Class of Meade High School of Gettysburg held their Commencement exercises in Bräu Chapel on last Thursday evening. The College Orchestra furnished the music. The opening prayer was by Rev. D. W. Woods.

The ten graduates appeared in the order of the program published last week, Miss Burnadette Thomas delivering the salutatory, "Refinement Our National Character," Miss Helen Kneehart on "Child Life in Literature," Miss Hazel Thor on "Janestown—Past and Present," Ralph Weaver on "What Our Flag Stands For," Miss Bessie Berger on "The Rose, Our Class Flower," Miss Mary Troxell on "Nature's Quiet Ways," Miss Hattie McClellan on "Crown's" floral, members of the class were entitled to. Miss Margaret McIlhenny recited "Twice Over." Miss Villanova Miller made the presentation speech, accompanied with gifts to the class. Maurice Baker had the valedictory, preceded by essay on "A History of Electricity." The entire exercises were highly creditable to the High School.

Prof. Chas. F. Sanders addressed the graduates. Afterwards Miss Frances Sheely read the essay on "Minute Men" which won the $5 D. A. R. prize, which was presented to her by Mrs. W. H. O'Neal, Regent of the Gettysburg Chapter. Other prizes were announced as stated in last issue and Dr. T. C. Billheimer after presenting the diplomas to the graduates dismissed audience with the benediction.

Memorial Day Services.

Corporal Skelly Post No. 9, G. A. R., held their annual memorial service in the Post Room on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. Henry Anstadt was prevented from delivering the sermon from an attack of neuralgia. The opening prayer was made by Rev. J. W. Houseman. The records of the comrades who had been mustered out during the year were read. David A. Conover, Adam Black, Peter Thorn, Joseph A. Topper, J. C. Pittenturf, Henry F. Walter and Thaddeus Welty. Dr. T. C. Billheimer made an address appropriate to the occasion, as also Capt. Chas. G. Miller and Sergt. P. L. Houck.

The arrangements for Memorial Day have been completed as previously published.

Every Adams county citizen should hear the address of Hon. James A. Tawney, not only because he is an Adams county boy, but also because he is a brilliant orator whom it should be a delight for our citizens to hear and honor.

Citizens are requested to bring flowers to the Post Room on Thursday morning so that there may be an abundance of floral tributes for the heroic dead.

from 100 and fifty or more in the party and their headquarters here will be at the Eagle Hotel. A camp fire will be held in the Court House Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock, to which the citizens of the town are invited. Lafayette Post is one of the largest and most influential in the country. It probably has, or has had, more medal of honor men than any other. With many others, distinguished in the Civil War, the following have been, or now are, members of this Post: Admirals R. W. Meade, A. S. Barker, C. M. Chester, Generals A. Doubleday, A. S. Webb, F. C. Barlow, J. P. Hatch, N. A. Miles, W. Merritt, D. Butterfield, C. H. L. Collis, R. Nugent, Ray Stone, A. W. Greeley, J. F. Pierson, H. L. Pierson, H. L. Meade, D. McAuley, E. W. Strell, G. S. Carpenter and E. S. Otis.

Petition for Eyler.

The Emmitsburg "Chronicle" last week editorially gave the status of the new petition circulated in that town as follows:

"Coincident with the publication in the Gettysburg Compiler of the comment on the attitude assumed by the framers of a certain petition gotten up in behalf of Wm. Eyler who has been sentenced to be hanged next month, a new petition formulated by the clergyman of this place and signed by all the clergy and many of the laity in this vicinity, was being circulated right here in Emmitsburg.

The Democratic rules provide for an election of a chairman by the County Commissioners at the first meeting after their election each year, at which meeting the nominees shall be present. The new primary act expressly provided that all party offices to be filled under party rules were exempt from operation of the law. Chairman Miller had been advised in March by State Chairman Donnelly that the chairman would not be voted for at the primary.

The petitioner Chas. W. Bucher alleged that the new act made the chairman a public officer and as such to be elected at the primary, and he filed papers with County Commissioners so as to be able to have this question decided.

John D. Keith, Esq., represented Mr. Bucher and argued at length that the chairman was a public officer under the act and because Courts had recognized a chairman as an official to be subject to a mandamus. S. S. Nelly, Esq., for the County Commissioners, argued to the Court the parts of the new act exempting party officers from the operation of the law. They contended for the party wisdom providing for election of Commissioners by the Democratic electors, and that the representative body of Commissioners had the right under the Democratic party rules to choose a chairman to conduct the campaign each year.

At the conclusion of the argument the Court immediately decided the question, saying:

"Well gentlemen, we must say that this petition for mandamus does not come before the Court with much favor. If we were to grant the mandamus we feel we would be doing more injustice to the Democratic Party of this county than if we were to refuse to do so. We are of the clear opinion that the Chairman of a County Committee is not a public officer within the purview of the Act of 1906. He is a party officer, and in view of the fact that the Democratic Party of the county of Adams elects, chooses its chairman through its County Committee which will be elected at our spring primaries, there was no duty devolving on the Chairman of the Democratic County Committee to certify the name of this petitioner to the County Commissioners, nor is there any duty on the part of the County Commissioners to print his name on the ticket. The petition for a mandamus is therefore refused, the costs to be paid by the petitioner."

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECK

ON THE GETTYSBURG AND HARRISBURG RAILWAY.

Milk Car a Total Wreck—Occupants of Baggage Car and Smoker Injured but no Loss of Life.

The passenger train known as the milk train on the G. & H. Ry. was wrecked on last Thursday. The train left here at the usual time, 1:15 p. m., and was made up as usual, engine, milk car, combination baggage and smoker car. The wreck occurred on a sharp curve between Ixillville and Starner's Station near what is known as Trexle No. 1. The milk car was by that time well loaded with milk.

The train was going at a good speed when the curve was reached and the forward truck of the milk car either jumped the rail or parted from the milk car. The engine darted forward quite a distance before it could be stopped.

The milk car was hur

COLD WELCOME IN NAPLES

STRUCK THE FIRST SNOW STORM IN SIXTEEN YEARS.

Vesuvius kicked up a black smoke
Aquarium and Museum
Visited.Bertolini's Palace, Naples, Jan. 24
Beautiful Italy has given us a chilly welcome. We had to strike the first snow storm in sixteen years. It snowed all day and all night, and there are still a few flakes flying and so cold. I have been on the go until I ache from head to foot and my eyeballs are sore.

Monday I went to the Aquarium and was fortunate in meeting friends, one of whom had been here before and knew the ropes. Of all the fearful and wonderful things that live in the deep. The keeper fed the octopus, pictures can't convey to your mind what an awful hideous thing devil fish is and the way they pounce upon their prey. The cuttle fish are much smaller than I thought. The amount of ink fluid those little rascals discharge and hide in for a moment, then dart around like a flash, is wonderful. We came out of there crawling all over. We even had shocks from the electric ray, a large flat, rather circular fish. You put one hand under it and lay the other on top and Mr. Fish will give you such a shock you drop him in haste and nearly squeal with the needles and pins in your hands and arms.

From there I made a tour of the shops looking at coral necklaces. Of course they all ask four prices but take time and in the end you pay your own price. The great trouble is that so many of these people have been to America and know what we pay at home, so shell and coral can no longer be had for a song. The shell and rose coral would drive one wild. Rose coral is getting scarce. The white and red can be had very cheap. I have not yet bought any, am going around to see where I can do the best and that will be best in the end.

I stumbled on a little shop in a dark corner, the man almost wept for me to buy some shell hat pins. I was after them but pretended I did not care and looked at everything else. He asked me eight lire each ($1.60) in New York they are from $3 to $4.50. Well, in the end he almost bowed to the floor and gave them both for six lire ($1.20). An Italian woman told me if I was afraid the shell was imitation I should insist upon trying it with a match. It struck me I was getting the bargain of my life! If these were real, so made him try a match under them. They are light shell which is twice as expensive as the dark.

Yesterday I went to the Museum. Staid there until the doors were closed. The beautiful, beautiful statuary, frescoes, gold and silver vases, lapis lazuli, cameos, every kind of thing from Pompeii, fruit, bread, medicine in the bottles, etc. The loaves of bread look like sad sponge cakes and are all circular in form of five sections to the loaf, resembling a pie cut in five "wedges." The Diana of Ephesus has black face and hands, all the rest alabaster. She is wound up something like a mummy, but has all kinds of things over her. Across her chest the carving resembles a great bunch of pears. The expressions on the faces of some of the statues are wonderful. Some of the Caesars look blood-thirsty villains.

That museum has put wheels in my head. One can't half see things in a day, weeks are needed to get anything properly placed in one's mind where there is so much to see. I was going to Pompeii today but will wait for a sunny day. I don't know how soon we will go on to Sicily.

Vesuvius kicked up a black smoke and a few ashes Sunday evening. In a short time the mountain was hid behind a dense cloud of smoke, none of which reached Naples, but I could smell it very plainly. Since then no smoke practically was seen. I heard the war ships saluting ye-terday and flew out thinking more tarts were doing, but there was only a little speck of smoke to be seen on the mountain. Then I located the noise.

One does not see the frescoing on the houses here like at Genoa. I have not been in any of the churches yet, they are too dark to see anything on a cloudy day. There are none that are specially noted. I have been chasing around all kinds of narrow, crooked streets.

24th. Went down town in the rain yesterday afternoon. Met friends on street and traveled around with them through shops, and narrow, queer streets one never sees by taking a carriage. With much love,

MARY KATHLEEN.

The remainder of April was very cool resulting in a late spring, with heavy frost on May 12th, greatly injuring the early cherries and vegetables. During the past winter fine ice from 7 to 12 inches thick was housed two weeks earlier than the preceding winter. The last week in March was a record breaker for hot weather, during this period the hottest weather occurred that has been known in the early spring season for forty years, the thermometer registering from 70 to 82 degrees.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heartburn," belching of gas, acid refluxes in throat after eating, stomach, gassy or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or varied appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, acrid liver with indigestion, &c., please, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known in medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

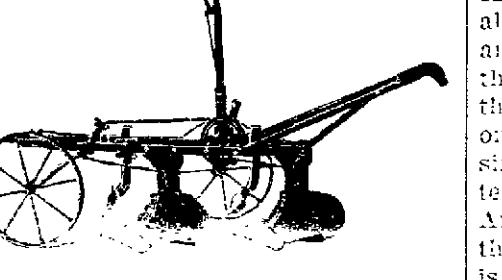

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. F. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Philadelphia; Prof. F. E. T. Evans, M. D., of Harvard Med. College; Prof. J. H. Heale, M. D., of Harvard Med. College; Prof. John King, M. D., of New York Dispensary; Prof. Jno. M. Anderson, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address to Postmaster at Dr. R. L. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive a free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above-mentioned authors and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of "Golden Medical Discovery."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're thin and sugar-coated.

The Horse's Baseball Troubles.

At the close of that memorable season when Tim Huestis managed the Horses on Vogel's Ave he laid over in Pa., sleeping on it's way to his home in the state, and while in the Quaker City he told his daily experiences while running the Mount City club.

"On Mondays," said Timothy, "we're devoted to telling the St. Louis sporting editors how I was going to win the pennant the next year. Tuesdays I would be kept busy denying to the club owners that I had ever made any such statements. Wednesdays I would be explaining to the newspapers why we weren't winning games. Thursdays I would be fighting with Chris to keep him from telling the players all the money they had coming to them. Fridays I would generally be busy all day getting the terms of pitchers that no body could hit."

"And on Saturdays?"

"On Saturdays I would spend the day signing players that couldn't hit any kind of pitching!"—Indulph Herald.

Paint and Ocean Travel.

"The worst feature of ocean travel is never mentioned in steamship company prospectuses or in books of travel," said a returned tourist. "It is not seasickness, for only a few are taken that way in the ocean greyhounds that neither rock nor pitch. It is not the narrow quarters or the inferior cooking or the tipping habit. It is paint. There is always wet paint on an ocean steamer, and there is never a sign on it to warn passengers. The modern sailor is a painter, constantly wielding the brush, always painting some part of the ship or other. There is hardly a passenger on an ocean liner that does not land from a voyage with some article of apparel damaged by paint. A sailor told me once that every ship is entirely repainted inside and out at least three times a year. The work goes on constantly in port and on the sea, and the passenger never can escape."

—Philadelphia Record.

Lightning Flashes.

Lightning flashes in a storm are found by an English observer to be much less irregular in period than they appear. Such storms have usually two, four, sometimes three, from which the flashes radiate, and the discharges from each come at regular intervals. The apparent irregularity is due to the varying rates of the different centers. In one storm noticed the two foci were about a mile and a half apart, and in an hour the northern center emitted thirty flashes at intervals of fifteen, thirty, forty-five, sixty and ninety seconds, and the southern center gave sixteen flashes at intervals of seventeen, thirty-four and fifty-one seconds. Another unexplained observation is that just before each great flash there is a momentary faint lighting up of the sky in the stormy region.

It Made a Difference.

An excited man rushed into a lawyer's office and without any preliminary burst out, "Has a husband a right to open his wife's letters?" "Certainly, sir, certainly," was the reply. "Open all you please." "Well, here is a letter my wife has written to your wife and asked me to deliver. I think there's something unpleasant in it about me. I wish you'd open it and if there is just burn it." "Hump! Does my wife know your wife is going to write to her?" "Yes." "And if my wife doesn't get this letter she'll soon find it out, won't she?" "Of course." "On second thoughts," said the lawyer thoughtfully, "I believe there is a legal finding to the effect that it is a criminal offense to open a wife's letters. I couldn't take the risk, sir; indeed, I couldn't."

Echo Verses.

Echo verses were sometimes used effectively for epigrams and squibs. Thus a critic once wrote:

Ed. — Your poem. But, tell me, how is it?
When I cry out "exquisite" echo cries
"pigiz it!"

And when in 1831 Paganini was drawing crowds to the opera house at extravaganzas, the Times printed the following lines:

What art thou? who art thou? when art thou?
To hear a virtuoso of Paganini!

Ed. — Rock of蒙地士

—London Graphic.

Youthful Misnomer.

Among the numerous perplexing and interesting examples of youthful misnomerism, "cross ignorance" is 111 times as bad as just ordinary ignorance. "Archibelle, an old fashioned hemispherical fellow who has anchored himself to one place." "The liver is an infant organ." "Vaseline is nothing with the air sucked out of it put up in a pickle bottle. It is very hard to get."

Only Two in Office.

A man in a certain township was elected constable. The members of the family were much elated and could scarcely contain themselves with their newly acquired civic honors. At last one of the smaller children said to the wife, "Ma, are we all constables?" The mother replied: "Gwan, child! Nobody's constable but me and your pa!"—Achison Globe.

The Real Cause.

Tommy — What was you bawlin' about last night?

Willie — Wy, when paw and me got home from fishin' paw didn't have supper ready, and I whimpered about it, and paw licked me.

"And he licked you jis' fer whimperin'?"

ATTEND PRIMARY.

Democrats should turn out to the primaries on next Saturday afternoon June 1 and nominate the ticket, with a large vote, they propose to elect in November. The new primary law has done away with county conventions and holding primaries for delegates to come. The Democratic ticket to be voted for in November can only be selected at the primary next Saturday. Every Democrat should attend the primary and vote for the men of his choice. The ticket so selected can not help but be a strong one as it will be the choice of the majority of the Democrats of the county and should have the full party support in November.

The primaries are held on Saturday afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock. The regular election officers will hold same. These officers will be provided by the County Commissioners with Democratic, Republican and Prohibition ballots. The Democratic elector will cast for the ballot of his party and retire to booth and mark an X opposite his choice.

The only contest is over Prothonotary. As to all other offices the elector will either vote for the candidates on ticket or write in some name not on ballot. An elector can have no help in marking ticket unless he makes oath he cannot read or is physically unable to mark his ballot. All licensed bars will be closed from 1 to 9 p.m. on Saturday. The results of the primary will be sent to the County Commissioners and the vote computed and fall tickets will be made up according to the result at the primary.

FORM OF BALLOT

Mark a cross (X) in the square to the right of each candidate for whom you wish to vote.

If you desire to vote for a person whose name is not on the ballot, write or paste his name in the space provided for that purpose.

NEW PIPE ORGAN IN TOWN.

Fairfield

May 27. The new pipe organ for the Reformed church of this place has arrived and is being set up by men from the Moller Factory Hazleton where the organ was made. Mr. Carnegie has contributed to the payment of half the price of the organ. It is proposed to have a dedication and a recital in the near future. It is a beautiful organ, and the pastor and congregation may well be proud of it.

Jacob Musselman who purchased the Groth property is making extensive repairs. He is having the finest stone room in the town. He has installed an Acetylene gas plant and has light through the whole house. His large store room is splendidly lighted up showing to fine advantage his large stock of goods.

Farmers' Institutes.

The County Board of Farmers' Institutes will meet at the County Commissioners' office on the second Tuesday of June to arrange for the place where Institutes are to be held this season. All of our people who desire Institutes ought to attend this meeting and present their claims. This Board is composed of the local members of the State Board of Agriculture and one representative from each county Agricultural Society, the Pomona Grange and County Alliance. If you find that you cannot attend this meeting address a letter with your request to Chairman of Board of Institute Managers, care of County Commissioners.

To Hear From Cooper

L. T. COOPER.

¶ We wish to call the attention of the public to a series of "short talks" by L. T. Cooper that are to be published in this paper.

¶ The Cooper medicines have made a remarkable record in the leading cities of the United States during the past two years and young Mr. Cooper has been the subject of much newspaper comment.

¶ Mr. Cooper has met and talked with thousands of sick people in his visits to almost every large city in the country.

¶ He is noted as a man of very few words and tells briefly in these articles what his preparations are doing for sick people and why they have been successful wherever introduced.

¶ Mr. Cooper's theory is that one half of all human ills is caused by stomach trouble, and the wonderful success of his preparations in the treatment of stomach disorders, kidney and liver complaints, rheumatism, etc., seems to have proven this claim.

¶ Some time ago we secured the agency for these celebrated medicines. We have been gratified by the extreme satisfaction of those who have purchased them from us and advise every one to read these "short talks" as they are full of terse, common sense.

Wonderful Eczema Cure.

"Our little boy had eczema for five years," writes N. A. Adams, Henrietta, Pa. "Two of our home doctors said the case was hopeless, his lungs being affected. We then employed other doctors, but no benefit resulted. By chance we read about Electric-Bitters, bought a bottle, and soon noticed improvement. We continued this medicine until several bottles were used, when our boy was completely cured. Best of all blood medicines and body building health tonics, guaranteed at People's Drug Store. 5c."

This ground has been staked off and operations begun on foundation for the new St. Mary's parochial school, McSherrystown.

CHAS. RIDER has moved from McSherrystown to Patterson, N. J., to work at cigar making.

HOW I CAME TO EAT HUMBLE PIE

By M. E. STOKE

of McSherrystown, Pa.

What I want to tell you recently I have been trying to do, the only way for anybody to get rid of a badness, indeed, every trait of character to make their own and other lives pleasant, beatings, thins I had ever met.

"I have been trying," I said to the gentleman who is fix in my mind what your call it may be. I can't quite make you out. You are neither a lawyer, a doctor nor a clergyman. Nor do you appear to be a man of business."

The gentleman pulled a card from his pocket and handed it to me. I read:

MR. AND MRS. WORRINGTON
BLISS
Healers of domestic wounds.

I looked from the card to the face of the man with surprise and inquiry.

"It is surprising," he said, "that you should be surprised. There is no profession in the world calculated to do so much good as ours. It is the only profession except medicine, of which it is in part a branch, that brings comfort out of suffering. There are matrimonial brokers and divorce lawyers. Why not penitentiaries?"

"What is your clientele?"

"A wife is wretched from some disagreement with her husband. A husband is wretched from some disagreement with his wife. A daughter or a son is making his or her parents miserable either from extravagance, bad influences or an unsatisfactory match. We get at the cause or causes of these disagreements, then set about removing them. In this way we restore amicable relations. A better name for our profession perhaps would be 'repairs of fractured affections.' When the mechanism in which the gem love is set becomes weak or broken we make the necessary repairs."

"But how do you accomplish repairs?" I asked, with growing wonder, yet struck by the plausibility of the man's words.

"That will best be explained by giving you a few instances. A wife recently came to us whose husband was apparently losing his love for her, his home and his children. Mrs. Bliss, under pretense of being a former schoolmate of the wife, made the family a visit. She soon discovered that the wife was turning the house into a prayer meeting. It required the greatest tact for her to convince the deluded woman of her error. A brief season of gaiety was prescribed. It worked to a charm. The husband soon tired of it, and when he did he found his home more to his taste. Mrs. Bliss possessed great skill or she could never have effected a cure in this case, for the lady in question was a veritable Puritan.

having a taste for the sea, was given command of one of them, the Pelican.
The old man decided to make a voyage with his son on the Pelican and had a stateroom fitted up for him.

The voyage to China was uneventful.
Jonathan Greenwill, who was a Quaker of the mildest type, sat much on deck, looking over old ocean's bosom, which thrashed gently; the clouds above, which rolled peacefully,
and the sea birds, which sailed gracefully.
Nothing could have been more conducive to a deepening of the old man's noncombatant principles.

The voyage out finished and a goodly cargo of silks, tea and other valuables having been taken aboard, the Pelican started for home. She was sailing southward one afternoon on the China sea midway between the Malay peninsula and the island of Borneo when a low, raffish looking vessel appeared on the eastern horizon that especially arrested Captain Robert Greenwill's attention.
The old man sat on deck in his chair, absorbed, as usual, in the peacefulness of the scene. The captain went below, and when he returned strange noises were heard underneath.

"What are those sounds, Robert?"
asked the father.

"Guns being hauled into position behind masked openings. Do you see that vessel? She's a pirate."

"But, Robert," exclaimed the old man, rising in great trepidation, "what is this going to do?"

"Fight!"

The father said nothing for some time, then spoke earnestly:

"Robert, thee knows my principles.
If thee fight, I cannot help thee."

"You can go below, father, and await the issue there."

"What arms have thee?"

"I've always carried three guns on each broadside, and I have a plentiful supply of muskets and cutlasses."

"I never knew that, or I would not have allowed it."

"That I knew very well, father."

An hour later the situation was as follows: The Pelican and the pirate were within a mile of each other, both heading for the strait. The owner of the Pelican was in his stateroom. To enable him to keep his principles he had locked himself in and thrown the key out through a porthole. In doing so he caught sight of the pirate just as she "broke" the skull and bones from her peak, and a few moments later she fired a shot across the Pelican's bows.
Mr. Greenwill was expecting to hear some response from the Pelican's guns, but he did not. Since this was in accordance with his professed views he should have been pleased, but he was not. He started to go and see what occurred the delay, but found the door locked. A profane word was on his lips but he repressed it. Mounting a stool, he called through an opening above the door:

"Why doesn't thee fire, Robert?"

Pet Robert was too far away to hear, besides being otherwise engaged. Jonathan got down from the stool and went to the porthole just in time to see the pirate fire a gun that struck the Pelican within twenty feet of the opening through which he was looking. The pirate was now near enough for him to see the deck swarming with the ugliest lot of yellow cutthroats he had ever looked at.

Again forgetting that the door was locked, he tried to open it. At that moment there were three simultaneous boomerangs in his own ship, and he ran back to the porthole to get a view. He saw activity on the pirate and new guns fire out.

The fight was now well on, and between the booms were heard sounds of the old man's best against the door of the stateroom, which finally yielded.
Jonathan Greenwill rushed on deck with a cutlass that he had picked up as he ran.

"Give 'em—more balls, Robert! Why don't thee fire faster?"

"All hands ready to repel boarders!"
was the captain's only reply, seeing that the pirate was heading in toward the Pelican.

Ten minutes later the pirate had crapping irons on the Pelican and a lot of heads were eliminated aboard. The Pelican's crew were fewer in number, but of a superior race. The Pelican's deck was higher than the pirate's, and as the pirates put their heads on the gunwale they were chopped off by the expresses of the Pelican's men. Nevertheless a number of them got aboard, and both sides fought desperately.
Finally, when half of those who had boarded were killed, the pirate sheered off and left the rest at the mercy of the Pelican's crew.

Then for the first time Robert Green-will got a view of his father. The old man, covered with pirates' blood, his eyes glaring, was hacking away at the remnant of the yellow heads who had sought to take his ship.

"Hold on, father! We'll take them as we are and let the authorities hang them."

Enter the old man did not hear or he was too hot to hear. He went on hacking and stabbing, and the men, considering his example an order, went on killing the pirates till one was left alive. Then, when there was no more blood to feed Jonathan Greenwill's thirst, he suddenly came to himself. Dropping his cutlass, he went down the companionway, and soon his voice was heard wrestling in prayer for forgiveness for having sinned in having not only used the sword, but having killed more pirates than any man aboard the ship.
